

Academic Adviser – applications now open

The ISCP Management Committee and the Data Analysis, Audit and Research Group (DAARG) have created the post of Academic Adviser. The successful candidate will have a strong track record in research derived from analysis of large data sets and a thorough knowledge of associated research methodologies. He or she will participate in reviewing ISCP data requests and contribute to the approvals process, as well as contributing to feedback and guidance to applicants, in order to improve the quality of data requests from methodological perspectives.

Applicants are asked to submit a CV with an application form to the ISCP Surgical Director at jon.lund@nottingham.ac.uk by Monday 19 February.

Further information can be found in the job description and person specification, or obtained by contacting Jon Lund at the above email address.